Behaviour Support Sessions for parents and Carers

The premise of 1-2-3 Magic is based on fairly simple concepts—give directions effectively and stop arguing, nagging and pleading to gain compliance. When children don't comply, parents are encouraged to start counting. If the child doesn't follow instructions by the time a parent reaches the number three, the child is given a consequence, such as time away and loss of attention. The program helps parents make consequences more effective while reducing manipulative behaviour, such as whining and begging. Strategies are appropriate for toddlers through tweens.
