

Friday 8th January

Here is another imagine for you to consider today.

There are a variety of activities based on this for you to have a go at.

The Last Warrior

Question time!

Can you think of any adjectives to describe the moon, clouds or warrior?

Can you use them to write a description of the warrior?

Who is the figure in the picture?

What do you think 'the last warrior' means?

Why is he putting down his sword at the top of a mountain?

When the warrior mutters a prayer what do you think he is saying?

Does the word 'mutter' mean the same as 'said'? Can you think of any other words that mean something similar to 'said'?

Sentence challenge!

Which of these sentences are statements? Which are questions? Which are commands?

The warrior is carrying a sword.

Look how sharp it is!

How did he climb so high?

The moon shines brightly.

Why is he up there?

Sick sentences!

These sentences are 'sick' and need help to get better. Can you help?

The moon was big and bright. It shone in the sky.

Extension Task (optional)

Have a go at extending the story...

Story starter!

It had taken all day for him to climb Tiger Peak. The climb had been torture, but now all the pain seemed worth it.

Sinking down to one knee, a mark a deepest respect, Master Chi took himself to a place of complete tranquillity. His senses had never seemed so alert. At this great height, towering above everything like a God, Master Chi felt almost invincible, a sensation he hadn't experienced since his younger days when he was regarded by all as the greatest of warriors.

As he basked in the milky glow of the orb in front of him, Master Chi muttered a prayer; a snake-like hiss that was immediately carried off on the warm mountain breeze.

He gently lay his sword down by his side. The Age of the Warrior had long passed. He knew the time was right. The last warrior in the kingdom stood and turned his back on his weapon, turned his back on the majestic light that had guided him these many years, and strode away down the mountain.

A new Age beckoned...

Optional Task

Perfect picture!

Imagine that instead of a moon there is a sun in the picture. Can you draw or describe what the scene would look like?
